

PICTO

ANSWER

.....
The Next Generation of the Calculator

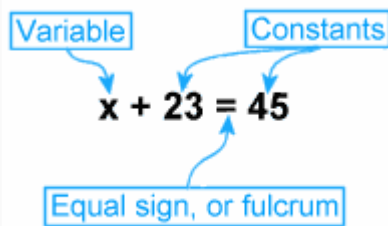

Alexio Mota

Erik Kamp

Asim Alvi

Problem

- People often have to solve math problems via calculator.
- This can often get tedious and time consuming.
- Lengthy equations are an annoyance to input into calculators.

Solution

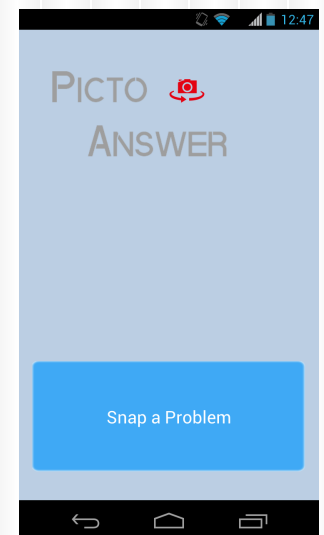

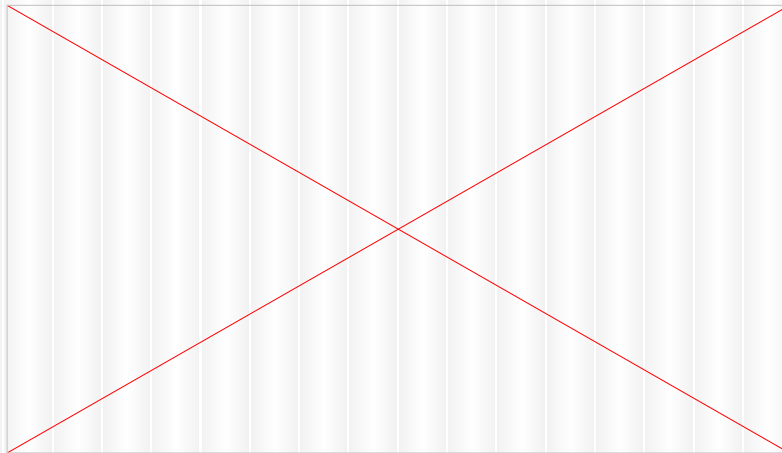

- Use the camera on the Android phone to take a picture of the problem.
- Solve the problem without having to actually type anything into a device.

How It Works

.....

- PictoAnswer takes a picture of the problem. An OCR engine converts it to format that allows computation
- The answer is computed and displayed on the phone.
- Saves the user the trouble of having to input a potentially lengthy equation into a calculator.

Questions

